UMOJA BUSINESS
enterprise

For many parents in our community, getting ready for school starts with a long journey just to find the essentials

THE PROBLEM

School essentials are far away for many families.

In remote areas, parents may need to travel long distances to buy the supplies their children need for school.

School bags, books, and exercise books can be difficult to access nearby.

Mathematical sets and geometry boxes may require another trip to town.

The journey takes parents’ time and adds travel costs.
